

Boun daries are straight planes and when we erect them between our curved b odies pressed so close we se ver parts of each other—
p arts of you,
pa rts of me—
and tho se dis-em-souléd pieces are like dead branches on a tree:
Har d, waterless, stopped.

